

I think it is an imposition for companies to call anyone during the few hours that people are at home. Marketing campaigns are ubiquitous. Our personal time at home should not be disturbed for the anticipated growth and profit of a business.